Making ear and hearing care for all a reality- through trained human resources

To support countries in integrating ear and hearing care within primary care , WHO launched the Primary ear and hearing care training manual. This manual forms a part of the set of training resources available for capacity building of the existing health workforce at the primary level.

We welcome you to join and learn more about these resources in the upcoming webinar where we will focus on:

- Introduction to the training resources
- Adoption and implementation
- Examples of implementation
- Experience sharing
