

Abbreviated Biosketch for Proposed Members of the Guideline Development Group

Title:	Doctor
First name:	Jing
Last name:	Fang
Current position:	Director and Professor
Affiliation*:	Institute for Health Sciences, Kunming Medical University
Country:	P.R. China
Bio: Jing Fang earned her PhD at the Institute of Development Studies (IDS), Sussex University, UK in 2006. Before that, she was the Deputy Director of Yunnan Reproductive Health Research Association (YRHRA), a NGO based in Yunnan China, and had undertaken research on Chinese rural health care services, particularly women's reproductive health services in poor rural China for more than one decade. During 2006-2009 she worked at the International Centre for Integrated Mountain Development (ICIMOD), an independent intergovernmental organization based on Kathmandu, Nepal, as an EcoHealth specialist and led a project entitled "land use change and human health in eastern Himalaya: an adaptive ecosystem approach". From 2012 onward, she joined a few other experts in Southeast Asia countries to work on a multi-country and multi-component EcoHealth program entitled "Field Building Leadership Initiative—advancing EcoHealth in Southeast Asia" and in 2014, she was given the "Outstanding Contribution to the Field of EcoHealth" by the International Association for Ecology and Health. At present she is a professor and the director of the Institute for Health Sciences, Kunming Medical University, China doing both teaching and research. She was also a member of the Gender and Rights Advisory Panel (GAP), WHO from 2010-2013, a member of the EcoHealth Emerging Infectious Diseases Advisory Committee of IDRC (2011-2014), a member of the Scientific Working Group of the research on vets, environment and society, TDR, WHO (2013-2019), a member of executive editorial group of the journal EcoHealth (2011-present), a member of advisory committee of the Forum for Health, Environment and Development (Forhead)(2010-present), China.

* Please choose your primary affiliation and mention others in the bio.

 Please briefly describe your current and recent professional positions (past five years) and education in 200 to 300 words maximum.