Financing for cancer

This webinar will explore the extensive impact of cancer, focusing on the often overlooked financial challenges it brings to patients and their support networks. It will highlight how cancer affects not only health but also the financial stability of individuals and their families, impacting careers and overall well-being. The session will address the need for better insurance coverage, financial assistance programmes, and comprehensive support to tackle these economic strains. Participants will learn about available resources and strategies for financial planning, as well as the importance of building a supportive community for financial counselling and assistance. This approach aims to reduce stress and burden, enabling a focus on recovery and quality of life, thus promoting a holistic approach to cancer care and support.
