

South-East Asia
Regional Health Emergency Fund

A stronger SEARHEF for a resilient WHO South-East Asia

Climate change, disease outbreaks and humanitarian crises are making health emergencies more frequent, complex, and unpredictable.

When every hour counts, SEARHEF provides rapid and flexible funding to enable timely emergency response, save lives, also strengthens preparedness across the WHO South-East Asia Region.

A strengthened SEARHEF invites Member States and partners to contribute through

Financial contribution

Sustaining and enhancing Member State contributions

Diversifying resource base

Broaden engagement beyond traditional donors reaching out to private sector

Mobilizing in-kind support

Life saving essential supplies, operational support, and technical expertise

Every contribution counts.

Financial.

Technical.

In kind.

Together, we can build a stronger SEARHEF to protect the health of nearly two billion people across South-East Asia.